

MODEX™ Broadband 1 Year Limited Warranty

We guarantee that the RPG MODEX™ Broadband Panels will be free from manufacturing defects for a period of one (1) year from the date of receipt.

NOTE: RPG MODEX™ Broadband Panels are designed to be installed in interior areas with relative humidity levels of 40%-55% and temperatures between 60-80 degrees Fahrenheit (18-24 C). Levels above or below these ranges in use or storage will invalidate the product warranty.

The aspects of construction that shall be guaranteed include the securing of the fabric to the sides of the core material and the integrity of any installation hardware provided by RPG. The RPG MODEX™ Broadband Panels are fabricated in accordance with industry standards. Deviations that fall within acceptable tolerances, which are normal in the trade and do not prevent the use of the goods for their normal purpose, do not provide justification for a complaint. In particular, we are not liable for the stability or consistency of the fabric itself. For example, if the fabric is found to be secured around the sides of the panel yet the fabric at the face sags, this is not covered by the warranty - any inquiries relating to this effect should be directed toward the manufacturer of the fabric.

Upon receipt of the panels, the client must inform RPG in writing of any damages or defects without delay. RPG extends a one week grace period during which claims can be made regarding the arrival of the goods, even if this notification has already been made verbally or remotely by word of mouth to the site or the field personnel. In doing so, the defects claimed by the client must be described precisely. The client must cease any processing or handling of the allegedly defective goods immediately after the discovery of the material that is the subject of the complaint.

If a notification is received from the client to the effect that the products are not in accordance with the warranty, an individual defective item must, when possible, be sent to RPG without delay at our request or they must be stored properly and held for viewing by RPG personnel. If it should be found at that time that the complaint concerning a defect was unfounded, a charge will be made for RPG employee's working time and travelling expenses, at standard industry rates.

The warranty period begins on the delivery date. If our transportation, storage or assembly instructions are not followed, any warranty shall lapse. The term limit for item storage is 90 days from receipt of the panels. For situations where the storage term will exceed this time frame, you will need to contact RPG to discuss what options there may be to extend the term limit.

We do not warrant against defects which are due to improper storage or use of the products. The storage and use of the products presupposes that a full knowledge and experience of upholstered acoustical panel technology is taken into account so as to avoid detrimental effects on the stability and other qualities of the goods.

We are entitled to amend any problems, and if this is not possible, to deliver a replacement. If any modifications by RPG should fail, after an appropriate length of time, the client may, at his own discretion, request a reduction in the cost or cancellation of the contract.

If the client wishes to undertake modifications himself on the basis of a written agreement with RPG, he undertakes to inform RPG in writing beforehand of the costs arising from this, and only to carry out the amendment after receiving written agreement from RPG.
